

The Federal Communications Commission

Dear The Federal Communications Commission,

I do not want to pay more for my telephone service!
Moreover, I do not want to pay for the service used by others to make it affordable for them and not be able to use it myself. I urge you to reject a flat fee proposal that would change how contributions are made to the Universal Service Fund. I am concerned that this proposal could make my current service unaffordable.

My household of 5, makes 1 or 2 long distance calls per month. Sometimes we don't use the service at all. Under the flat fee proposal you are considering, people who make few long distance calls would pay the same as people or businesses that make many calls. In other words, low-volume and primarily residential customers would bear the same universal service fund burden as a high-volume residential or business customers. This is unfair!

I use my wireless phone for safety and security. It is only fair that consumers pay for the services they use. I don't want to lose these benefits so that big businesses can pay less than their fair share. I urge you to reject the proposal to move the USF collection system to a flat-fee.

Keep the USF Fair!

Sincerely,

Debra Christensen
